REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT

Although the School District of Pickens County continued to face economic challenges during the 2011-2012 school year, the district still made academic progress in numerous areas. The district demonstrated fiscal responsibility by implementing cost-saving measures. SDPC maintained a strong financial position and increased the General Fund's undesignated/unreserved balance over 2.2 million. The district also received an unqualified opinion by its auditors which is the best opinion a district can receive. In our instructional program, we continued to focus on high quality learning opportunities for all students. Twenty-two schools received Palmetto Gold and Silver awards for general performance as well as for progress in closing achievement gaps. Seven of the twenty-two schools received awards in both parts of the recognition program. Three schools obtained special recognitions during the 2011-2012 school year. Holly Springs Elementary was named a National Blue Ribbon School. Central Elementary, a Title I school, was named the 2011 South Carolina Distinguished School for Closing the Achievement Gap, and U.S. News and World Report named Daniel High School the number one traditional public high school in South Carolina. STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics) education was a focus for Pickens County Schools. Teachers and students participated in STEM activities which were integrated into their core academic programs. Clemson Elementary 5th grade students were named the Grand Champions of the International Jet Toy Challenge which was hosted in Detroit, Michigan. The district received positive news as assessment results were released in the fall. SDPC students scored higher than their South Carolina peers on the End-of-Course exam in Algebra I, English I, physical science, and US History. The district's SAT scores were 23 points above the national average and ACT scores were 1.5 points above the national average. In addition, the district saw a .9 increase in HSAP first attempt scores. Seven of nine TAP (Teacher Advancement Program) schools either met or exceeded expected student growth as measured by MAP (Measure of Academic Progress) or PASS. Dacusville Middle, Holly Springs Elementary and West End Elementary made the highest score of 5; Pickens Elementary and Six Mile Elementary made the next highest score of 4; AR Lewis and JT Simpson scored a 3.
